City Council Develops 7 Questions For County Authorities to Answer

by Bob Hickman

The Greenbelt city council, in a Friday night work session on Sept. 6, thrashed out ideas for questions to county authorities seeking confirmation of the six-point proposal the county executive has recently made to the city in connection with East Greenbelt development. The six-point offering is intended to placate the city council angry about the county executive's efforts to promote the development of Sunrise Village Apartments. Council members agreed that the city must find out whether the county executive has the authority to produce the results promised in his six-point plan before any decisions can be made on the current development situation in East Greenbelt.

Based on discussion at the session and the concerns of those present, the council developed seven questions related to recent offers presented to the city by Fern Piret on behalf of County Executive Parris Glendening:

1. Can the county executive legally commit the transfer of surplus school land to the city?

2. Does the county executive have the authority to commit Tax Incremental Financing (TIF) funds for advance funding of the bridge improvement over the Baltimore–Washington Parkway?

3. Is there a reverter clause or other legal impediment to prevent transfer of surplus school land to the city? (A "reverter clause" might give the original private owner of the land the right to repurchase the tract from the county.)

4. Does the county executive have the authority to commit additional State Open Space Funds to the city for the park in East Greenbelt?

5. Will the federal government approve the widening of the Rt. 193 bridge overpass for the Baltimore–Washington Parkway?

6. What restrictions will the county impose on Sunrise Village Apartments in return for revenue bond financing?

7. Will the county commit to giving the city a voice in all planning along Greenbelt Road, even that outside of the city which would affect the city through increased traffic levels or in other ways?

The work session was attended by Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, councilmembers Toni Bram, Ed Putens and Tom White, as well as representatives of Coakley and Williams, the Hunting Ridge Condominium Association and the Greenbriar Condominium Association.

The mayor and council members present questioned whether the several offers made by the county executive could be delivered without approvals by other authorities, such as the county council. "Is an agreement by the county executive binding on the county council? I don't think it is," said Putens.

Putens expressed anger that the city must ask for an agreement with the county to be informed of development plans in the city. "It aggravates me," he said.

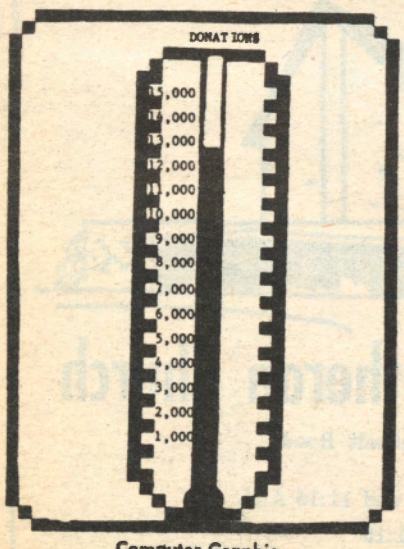

Not only should the city be informed of what goes on in the city, said Bram, but of development plans all along Greenbelt Road, since that additional traffic also impacts the city.

East Greenbelt Position

Bob Zugby, representing citizens from East Greenbelt who met with developer Jim McCraig of the Sunrise project on August 22, read a letter to the council signed by representatives of the East Greenbelt Ad Hoc Committee, the Hunting Ridge Homeowner's Association, the Greenbriar Community Association and the Windsor Green Homeowner's Association.

The letter stated that the representatives had concluded that the Sunrise project is likely to occur with or without tax-exempt bond financing. The letter further said that McCaig had agreed to maintain Sunrise Village as a luxury all-adult community if

by Bob Hickman

At its September 9, regular meeting the city council unanimously directed city staff to send a letter to the county executive asking for reassurances about the concerns developed at the Sept. 6 work session (see adjacent story) as well as a traffic study for the area which would include proposed projects such as the Sunrise Village Apartments, and a commitment to the city to be given a voice in all development along Greenbelt Road, in or out of the city.

The letter should seek also a commitment, in writing, for completion of the road projects in question, Mayor Gil Weidenfeld said, as well as assurances from the county office of law on matters such as additional funding for park development.

The council's concerns centered on the question of whether or not the county executive has the authority to deliver the goods with regard to recent promises to the city, including a time schedule for planned road construction, advanced funding for road improvements in the Baltimore – Washington Parkway bridge, quarterly reports of progress on road projects, no special inducements to developers until road improvements are in place, increased funding for city park development, and transfer of half of a 72-acre parcel of former Board of Education land to the city for use as parkland, with the remainder to be developed in single-family homes.

Councilmember Ed Putens pointed out that in the past a previous county executive had assured the city that it would receive the entire 72-acre tract. That transfer never occurred, he said, and the present offer by the county executive may require approval by the county council and the Maryland–National Capital

Eight Candidates for City Council Face Voters at Candidates' Forums

by Elaine Skolnik

All five members of the current city council — Mayor Gil Weidenfeld, Mayor Pro-tem Richard R. Pilski, and Councilmembers Thomas X. White, Edward V. J. Putens and Antoinette M. "Toni" Bram — are out on the hustings along with the challengers, Joseph C. Isaacs, Valerie Siegel and Steven A. Curtis. These eight candidates are vying for five council seats in what promises to be a lively campaign. Election day is Monday, September 30, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

All candidates were seen working the crowds at the Labor Day Festival. On their agenda during this political season are literature drops, doorknocking, telephoning and planting of signs throughout the city.

In order to heighten voter interest and to bring out the candidates' positions on issues, several candidates' forums have been planned throughout the city. The first face-off, sponsored by the Citizens for Greenbelt, took place on Tuesday in the council chambers. Candidates will also appear before Green Ridge House residents on Thursday, September 19 at 8 p.m. The Greenbriar Community Association has scheduled a candidates' night on Monday, September 23 at 8 p.m. in the Greenbriar Community Building. On Thursday, September 26 at 7:30 p.m. a forum will be held by the Springhill Lake Civic Association in the Springhill Lake Community House.

At these events candidates can be expected to field questions on a variety of issues, including development and zoning, the election process, the recent bond referendum, parkland, crime prevention and police protection.

On Monday, September 30, Greenbelters will elect five council members for two-year terms, all at large. In order for a candidate to be elected, he or she must receive at least 40% of the votes cast. If fewer than five candidates receive such a vote, a run-off election will be held one week later on Monday, October 7. Traditionally the top vote-getter has been selected as mayor by the newly elected council.

Some 3,222 Greenbelters are currently on the voter registration rolls. This is a minuscule gain over the 1983 total, but is almost an eight percent gain over the May 1985 bond referendum figures. (See table p. 8). There have been registered-voter increases over 1983 in three of the city's four precincts, but a major decrease in Springhill Lake's precinct 8.

There will be no referendum questions on the ballot this year. However, voters will again be asked to complete an information questionnaire dealing with city programs and services. A complete copy of the questionnaire will be published in future issues of the News Review.

Polling places are: Precinct 3 —Greenbelt Municipal Building; and Precinct 6 — North End School; Precinct 8 — Springhill Lake Community House; and Precinct 13 — Greenbriar Community Center.

Applications for absentee ballots are now being accepted in the city clerk's office in the Municipal Building. Signed applications must be made in writing and must reach the office of the city clerk no later than noon, Friday, September 27. The absentee ballot must be returned to the city clerk no later than 6 p.m. on election day, September 30. Application forms are available in the city offices. Persons who are leaving town may make an application at the city clerk's office and may complete their absentee ballots at the same time.

Any qualified voter who is unable to vote in the election because of religious beliefs, physical condition or absence from the city on the day of election may vote by absentee ballot.

Labor Day Parade To Appear on Cable

For those who missed this year's Labor Day Parade it can be seen on Channel A-10. The Prime Cable Mobile Studio was used along with seven volunteers to tape this event. The tape will be on the following dates and times:

Wednesday, September 18 at 7 p.m.; Thursday, September 19 at 7 p.m.

The tape is approximately one hour and 15 minutes long.

Candidates' Forum To Be Held Sept. 23

A Candidates Forum will be held on Monday, September 23, at 8 p.m. in the Greenbriar Community Building's Terrace Room. All City Council candidates—incumbents and challengers — will be asked to discuss their positions on issues of local importance, including police protection and development. The public is invited to prepare questions and attend the forum.

Library Friends to Meet

Anyone wanting to be a FOGLE (Friend of the Greenbelt Library) is invited to the Wednesday, Sept. 18, meeting at the library, when plans will be laid for the Oct. 27 book and bake sale.

Thirty new members were added at the Friends' Labor Day Festival booth, and an order list was added after all the Friends of the Library T-shirts were sold. The drawing for a T-shirt or Friends book bag will be done Wednesday night from name slips filled out by children and adults testing their literary skills at the booth.

The meeting is open to anyone wishing to join a group dedicated to supporting the library here. Books and baked goods are needed for the October sale, and volunteers can leave name and phone number at the FOGL meeting or by calling the library at 345-5800.

Registration Monday For Night Classes

Registration for GED, Pre-GED, ABE and ESL will continue at Eleanor Roosevelt High School on Monday, September 16 from 7-9 p.m. Classes meet on Monday and Wednesday nights. Registration is held in the school library.

Police Blotter

Based on Information Released by the Greenbelt Police Department

A Greenbelt police officer exchanged shots with a man near the Springhill Lake Recreation Center early last Thursday morning. On September 5 at 2:42 a.m. PFC Timothy F. Hahn observed a man acting in a suspicious manner near the center. When Hahn got out of his vehicle, the man pulled a gun from his waistband and fired at Hahn. The officer, who was not hit, returned fire but did not hit the suspect.

Despite a search of the area by the units of the Greenbelt department with the assistance of the Maryland State Police, Prince Georges County Police and U.S. Park Police, the man was not located.

The suspect was described as a white male, 18-25 years old, 6' tall, with a medium, muscular build. He had blond hair. The man was wearing dark pants and a black T-shirt with the words "Black Sabbath" in red lettering.

The police request that anyone with information about this incident call the Greenbelt police department, 474-7200.

Yetta Boldt

Yetta Boldt, 88, of Lakeside Drive died Wednesday, September 4 at Prince Georges General Hospital after several months at the Greenbelt Nursing Center.

Mrs. Boldt was born in New York City and lived in New Brunswick, N.J. for many years before coming to Greenbelt 16 years ago. She was a graduate of Trenton Normal School and taught school in the New Brunswick and Perth Amboy, N.J. public school systems. In New Brunswick she taught immigrants in the school's Americanization program. She also was a teacher and administrator at the Anshe Emeth Reform Temple religious school.

Mrs. Boldt was the wife of the late Joel Boldt and mother of Elihu Boldt and the late Alice Shifman. She is also survived by five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Interment was in Perth Amboy on September 8.

Harry Greenbaum

Harry Greenbaum of 23 Ridge Road died September 9 in Prince Georges General Hospital. He leaves his wife Lillian, two daughters, Annette Gage and Gloria Kramer and two sons Martin and Milton. He was a member of Post 58 of the Jewish War Veterans. Funeral services were held at Donald M. Stein Funeral Home on Wednesday, September 11 at 12 noon.

Interment at Mount Lebanon Cemetery.

Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Greenbelt held its first meeting of the 1985-86 year on Monday, September 9, at the Public Library. Reports of the summer's activities included: a $50 donation to the Greenbelt News Review, the selection of a white dogwood tree for the Adopt-A-Tree project, and manhours spent on the Labor Day Information Booth. Also reported were the handcraft items and water color painted program covers to be used for the November District Meeting, for which the Club will be the Host Club.

Crime Prevention to Meet

The regular meeting of the Crime Prevention Committee has been scheduled for Friday, September 13 at 7 p.m. in the City Council Room.

Co-op Store to Open New Deli Section

The Greenbelt Co-op Food store announces a new addition to its food services, a deli department to be run in conjunction with the meat department, featuring fresh luncheon meats sliced to order, imported and domestic cheeses, and exotic breads. The 12 ft. deli case, located in the rear of the store, will also contain ready-to-eat sandwiches and fresh salads. Special orders, including party trays, are welcome, according to store manager Bob Davis. "We see this as an added dimension to better serve the community." Depending on the local response, the deli offering may be expanded. "As always, we welcome suggestions," said Davis.

The new department is expected to be open by Saturday, September 14.

"I Ought to Be In Pictures" To Open Play Season

The Greenbelt Arts Center opens the sixth play season of its resident company, The Greenbelt Players, with a Neil Simon comedy acted by two casts.

"I Ought to Be in Pictures," a bittersweet tale of a father and his aspiring-actress daughter, opens on Friday, Sept. 27, for a three weekend run.

Directed by H. G. "Skip" Cote and Susan Hedges, this play is the first of five to be presented at the Utopia Theater through June of next year.

Group rates for any performance are available at a reduced rate (including the Opening Night Gala which includes refreshments) if ordered in advance. For information or to reserve tickets, one may call 474-7763.

Willoughby-Dutton

Mr. Calvin L. Willoughby and Mrs. John E. Seadler of Greenbelt announce the engagement of their daughter, Sandra L. (Sandi) Willoughby to Richard J. Dutton. Mr. Dutton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Vincent Dutton, formerly of Greenbelt, now residing in Palmetto, Florida. No date has been set for the wedding.

UTOPIA THEATER HOLDS MUSICAL AUDITIONS

Six adults will be needed for the Greenbelt Players' production of the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" which is set for November at the Utopia Theater.

Auditions for the musical will be held in the theater on Sunday, Sept. 29, at 3 p.m. and on Tues., Oct. 1, at 7:30 p.m. Besides the six adult players, the director, Ginny Zanner, will need musicians, dancer-choreographers, technicians and other help. Anyone wanting to be a small part of the production is welcome to leave name and phone number at 441-8770. Zanner can be reached at 474-0652 for detailed information about the production.

Girl Scouts to Hold Organizational Meeting

There will be an organizational meeting for girls and adults interested in joining the Girl Scouts on Monday, September 16 from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Greenbelt Library Conference Room. Girl Scouting is a program of fun and self-development for service to others for girls from 5 to 18, and for men and women adult volunteers. Leadership for the troops is the shared responsibility of the parents. Training and support is provided by community volunteers. Gary Smith Fund

Many of us were shocked to learn of the death of Gary E. Smith. There could be no finer tribute to someone who spent so much of his adult life concerned with the education and welfare of children that we as a community see that his children can also benefit from the opportunity to acquire a college education. Therefore some friends of Gary have established a fund to help insure that Gary's children have this opportunity.

Donations can be sent to the Gary Smith Memorial Fund, c/o F. Anthony McCarthy, Esq., 105 Ridge Road, Greenbelt, Maryland 20770.

Think — Then Vote

Twenty days from now we are going to be flipping a lever with our little pinky. It's very easy and takes probably 1/20 of a foot of energy but it is doubtful that any other device will ever have a more profound effect upon our lives!

There are some critical considerations to make before we casually walk up to the voting booth and make our choice of candidates. It should be made with some serious thought about how these folks have affected you in the past and what we can expect from them in the future—if they are incumbents—or for the new candidates, to consider their reputation in the community. What have they done for others merely out of care for their fellow beings and a sense of civic pride?

Have the present candidates lived up to your expectations? Are they properly motivated or do they think that they are underpaid and thereby have voted themselves a raise? Do they entertain your thoughts, make promises to you and then fail to follow-up, thereby wasting your time and energy? What do you want from them and are you getting it? Do they go to bat for you when you know your voice will be lost as a whisper in the wind and you seek their aid, or do they snicker behind theid hand while you take a loss? Do you get results when there is a problem that is very serious in your eyes or do you get a verbal pat on the head?

Do you want to vote for three or four or more as told in the election instructions or can you vote for the one candidate you really want elected? Remember that if you vote for more than one candidate you are lessening the chances of getting your person elected. You can vote for only one if you like.

And, if you think that your vote doesn't count for much, think again I can remember a "run-off" in which I was undecided about whom to cast my vote for and I asked another member of council who he would rather work with and voted accordingly as did my wife. The candidate is still in council and he won by one vote! Yes, only one vote did it!

I urge each of us to come out in force and make this the largest count in the history of Greenbelt elections. Vote for the person of your very own choice. If you do not take these few minutes to voice your opinion—you deserve what you get! And I refuse to listen to your belly-aching afterwards !! You'll have only yourself to blame!

Charles D. Kendall, Sr.

Freeze on S&L Withdrawals Extended 45 Days by Hughes

by Mary Lou Williamson

Community Savings and Loan Association of Bethesda, with assets of $482 million, was placed under state conservatorship late last Thursday, September 5, by Governor Harry Hughes. The executive order, effective September 10, extended the governor's prior freeze on withdrawals at Community for another 45 days. The earlier 20-day ban on withdrawals announced by Hughes on August 20 was due to expire at the close of business September 9. The executive order again prohibits any access to funds already in the S&L, but for the first time allows depositors access to third-party deposits; that is, direct deposit of federal, payroll or Social Security checks.

The same rules apply to First Maryland Savings and Loan Association, whose deposits have been frozen by the governor for 60 days as of August 23. First Maryland, with assets of $419 million, has been actively seeking acquisition by a major banking center. Earlier this week Citicorp, in a letter of intent, announced it will acquire the thrift. While the process may require several months, depositors can "take heart that the situation is close to resolution," said Norman Silverstein, the governor's chief spokesman for the S&L crisis.

Community's takeover by the state came following reported failure of efforts during the past three weeks to rescue Community's subsidiary EPIC (Equity Programs Investment Corp.)—a $1.3 billion complex of limited partnerships and related companies which hold mortgages and mortgage-backed securities on some 20,000 homes across the country. The mortgages are backed by private insurers. Banks and savings and loans in a number of states including Maryland have invested in EPIC-backed securities. The failure of EPIC to make payments on those investments in mid-August triggered Community's troubles when the public, informed of potential difficulties the S&L could face in obtaining federal deposit insurance, scurried to rescue their deposits.

Lawyers for the EPIC partnerships filed bankruptcy papers Thursday in a Virginia court just hours prior to and thus foiling the State's bid in Montgomery County Court to take over most of the EPIC subsidiaries in addition to Community

"The state is now sending in consultants to see what the liquidity of Community is—its assets and liabilities," said Silverstein. After that the State will "develop a plan for hardship cases," he said.

The governor, in the same executive order, relaxed somewhat the rules for the other large S&Ls which have not yet received federal insurance. With certain exceptions, these monies are now available: escrow accounts; payroll accounts; accounts of business in which the S&L has equity; money for completion of construction of a new home, tuition, mortgages, custodial or medical care of a person 65 or over, emergency medical care; debts owed to the S&L; and state, local or federal taxes. Persons must show in writing that the need is immediate and that the funds will be used exclusively for the purpose stated.

First Maryland branches are open. Community branches are closed, but depositors may call 493-6555 for information. The state's S&L hotline number is 1-800-638-6661.

There will be a coffee for Val Siegel at the home of Irene Hensel, 6 Orange Court (Lakewood) on Wednesday, September 18 at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Maryland Trade Center

Councilmember Dick Pilski read a letter from Coakley and Williams expressing "alarm and disappointment" with regard to the current problems in proceeding with construction of the third Maryland Trade Center highrise and the addition to the Holiday Inn despite trust and good faith on their part. The letter also stated that the delays in approval for construction of their projects was costing tenants because competition was drawing them to other areas. The letter also stated that Holiday Inn may back out of the proposed expansion of its building and instead expand another project outside of the city limits if negotiations with the city can not be completed within a reasonable amount of time.

Pilski made a vigorous defense of Coakley and Williams and said, "I'm just concerned that we don't let the Coakley and Williams people kind of die on the vine." He described Coakley and Williams as "fine partners and good tenants, "and pointed out that their development of Maryland Trade Center Park has been good for the county and has given employment to many people in the area.

"Let's not hold up Coakley and Williams because of what happened with Sunrise," Pilski said, pointing out that the increased traffic from that project is not the fault of Coakley and Williams and that the Maryland Trade Center project had been assured of being first in line for development.

Pilski then moved to release Coakley and Williams from the covenants with the city requiring road improvements to the Hanover Parkway area to be in place prior to construction. His motion died for lack of a second.

Councilmember Tom White said that the Sunrise Village project makes it critical for the city to make sure that the road improvements will be in place. "It (Sunrise) could upset the whole apple cart with regard to the service levels that the covenants (with Coakley and Williams) require.

"The county administration threw a curve into the proceedings," said White, who pointed out that the traffic study is important so that the capacity of Hanover Parkway and Greenbelt Road can be determined, based on current development projections.

East Greenbelt Views

Bob Zugby, representing citizen's groups from East Greenbelt, read into the record a letter which had been presented to the council at the work session. It expressed the view that the Sunrise project would occur with or without bond financing and mentioned that if the county would meet four conditions the citizens' groups would recommend to the city that it withdraw opposition to the use of tax-exempt bonds for the Sunrise project.

When Pilski asked Zugby the groups' position on Coakley and Williams, Zugby said they were not opposed to the project but characterized the position of Coakley and Williams as that of a car at an intersection with a green light and an eighteen-wheel truck (Sunrise) bearing down in the other direction and not paying attention to the light.

"Think about the people of Greenbelt who are also at risk in this situation," Zugby said. Coakley and Williams should realize that it is not the city that is responsible for the situation, but that the county executive's office is responsible.

Councilmember Bram noted that "Coakley and Williams came along and absolutely stood on their head to work with the city," at a time when the city had lamented the lack of cooperation by developers. She added that this made the city understand the plight of Coakley and Williams, but that the situation prevented complete sympathy.

Developer Jim McCaig of the Sunrise project also spoke before the council to request notification of any future work sessions open to the public and involving his project. Weidenfeld apologized to him for his not being informed of the September 6 work session.

Club Football Season

by Jeff Keir

It was hot, hotter and muggy last Saturday as the 125 lb. and the 110 lb. Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club Football teams opened their 1985 County League seasons. The 85 lb. team's opener vs. Bradbury Heights was cancelled because of the weather as were all afternoon County League games. Their game is tentatively rescheduled for November 2. Both the 125 lb. team and the 110 lb. team played their Bowie counterparts at Braden Field before good size crowds of parents, friends, etc.; both were on the losing side of the score. However, the players and coaches learned a lot from the games and are concentrating this week on certain aspects of their game to be better prepared for this week's contests.

The Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club teams are the hometown teams and all friends, family and the community-at-large are urged to support the teams throughout the season by attending the teams' games. Club cheerleading squads will perform during the games and at halftime.

Players and their parents are reminded that it is the responsibility of the parents to furnish transportation to and from games. All players should be at the playing field one hour before game time for warm-ups. Team coaches should be contacted if there are any questions.

Old Timers Win Big

On Tuesday, September 10, the Greenbelt Old Timers Softball Team clobbered the Upper County Old Timers (in five innings) by a score of 23-15. Three powerful home runs were scored by the Greenbelt team. one each for Jerry Conway, Bill Gannon and Jim McGann. With good hitting, the Upper County team scored eight runs in the first inning and set the challenge to Greenbelt. By effective fielding and place hitting, Greenbelt won.

All men and women aged 55 and over are invited to attend practice at Braden Field on Mondays. Greenbelt Seniors will challenge five teams in the upcoming Round Robin League at Olney, Maryland on September 18. Bring git-up-and-go spirit and help Greenbelt Old-Timers participate in the play-off!

SignLanguageCourse

Prince Georges Community College is now accepting registrations for a sign language course. Registrations end three days prior to the class starting date.

"Sign Language I," an eight-session course, will be held from 7 until 10 p.m., Mondays, beginning September 16 and ending November 4 at Eleanor Roosevelt High School. There is a fee.

For additional information, call 322-0870.

What is a "pulp-cap"

The living tissue contained within the central hollow core of a tooth is called the pulp. It's primary components are tiny blood vessels, body fluids and nerve fibers, the same elements found in all living tissues. When a cavity is very large, it can affect the health of the pulps, either by direct contact or just by being very close to the pulp. Most people refer to this as touching or being close to the "nerve".

A "pulp-cap" is a procedure done to prevent the undesirable effects of a deep cavity, which can range from a mild sensitivity all the way to the need for root canal therapy After thoroughly cleaning away any decayed tooth structure, your dentist will place a melicated dressing at the point closest to the pulp. A filling or other restoration as needed will then be placed. The success of a pulp-cap can not immediately be determined, and in all cases a follow-up observation and re-evaluation is absolutely necessary.

CONSIDERING A CHANGE IN RESIDENCE?

There are three key elements to consider:

A) Your needs: things you positively have to have.

B) Your wants: things you'd like to have, but don't necessarily need.

C) Your qualifications:
1) Your initial investment (cash to move in)
2) Your total income (gross yearly income)
3) Your debt service (total indebtedness)

I would like the opportunity to discuss with you how we can combine these three factors to assist you and your family in achieving your housing goals both within Greenbelt and the metropolitan area - of course with no obligation.

Miners, Farmers, Walkers, Gardeners Fort Builders - Old Trails Remain

by Betsy Likowski

Part two of two

One part of Greenbelt's original green belt remains and is located between the GHI houses and the Baltimore Washington Parkway. Designated parcels 1, 2 and surplus school board land, this acreage is as yet undeveloped, remaining as natural woodland. In the first part of this two-part series on what this land contains and how it has been used, the animals, birds and plants which make their home here were discussed. The present article will focus on the way humans have used and still do use this tract.

Although this land is completely undeveloped, not even managed as parkland, many Greenbelt residents find recreational uses for it. Although estimating how many Greenbelt residents do use these woods would be hard the large network of paths that crisscross parcels 1, 2 and the surplus school board land give silent testimony to the fact it is well used. Year after year the main paths remain almost as wide and free of growth as sidewalks.

When talking to Greenbelters, one discovers they use these woods in search of old mines and remains of old farm houses. A couple who live on Ridge Road gather edible mushrooms. They report seeing other edible plants, such as service berries, paw paw, blueberries and huckleberries. Several persons mentioned that they enjoy looking for wildflowers.

These woods have provided a wonderful place for children to play. It seems to be a requirement for boys growing up in Greenbelt to build tree houses and tree forts here. These forts seem to be limited only by the builder's imagination and ability to scrounge materials. Many forts seem to last only a season or two, but the more ingenious ones live on in the memories of those who built them and saw them. Some of the more memorable ones were: a wooden platform more than 30 feet above the ground, reached only by a thick rope; a log cabin; a log buried underground; and a tree fort built at the edge of a deep gully with a tire swing that swung out over the gully.

There's just no knowing the variety of uses Greenbelters make of the woodland right in the heart of their town. Lekh and Suzanne Batra of Ridge Road conducted scientific research for seven years in these woods. The result of their work was published in an article in Science magazine in May. Suzanne says they found it a good place to work because it is undisturbed and there is no use of herbicides and pesticides in these woods.

And of course there are the intangible benefits Greenbelt derives from so much woodland in its heart. Hundreds of people live within a short distance of these woods whose presence adds a country-like feel to Greenbelt.

City Trail and Historic District

There is a planned city trail that could, perhaps, be finished some day. City Administrative Aide Mike McLaughlin says that part of this trail has already been built from the end of Laurel Hill Road to approximately straight back from the end of Plateau Place. A sign near the end of Laurel Hill Road tells how the land for the perimeter trail park was obtained by the city through a bond sale and from federal and state agencies.

Parcels 1, 2 and the surplus school board land, along with GHI homes and other parts of Greenbelt, are listed on the National Register of Historic Places. This listing carries certain protections at the federal level.

Before Greenbelt

The land on which Greenbelt was built was occupied by small farms before it was purchased by the U.S. government. Looking at a 1935 map, one sees these names: Derby, Aitchson, Snowden, Matthai, G. Sommers, Cook Bozievich. Appold, Raport, J. A. Sommers, Cherry, and Crabbe. Crabbe appears to have owned much of the property and a detailed topography map of this property from 1941 shows a farm house, out buildings, fruit trees, and a burial ground near what is now Hamilton Place. Earlier this was the Hamilton property. The old cemetery still remains in which members of the Hamilton family were buried during the 1800's.

Remains of other farm buildings could possibly be found in these woods. Jack Wennerstrom of Crescent Road reports finding a spring enclosed with field stones in parcel 1. This reporter has seen the remnants of an old road and what could be an old house foundation south of Northway extended. And Steve Langone, of Gardenway claims to have found what may be the remains of old mine operations south of the Northway athletic fields and also north of the creek that starts behind 58 Court Ridge Road and flows into Beaver Dam Creek. Others have reported unusual land features that could be the remains of old mining operations.

Iron Mine

It is likely that the remains of old mines could be found, for Greenbelt lies in a line of iron mines that runs from Washington, D.C. up through Baltimore County. This is due to a geological feature called the Arundel formation, which is clay in which lumps and nodules of iron ore are found in an irregular distribution. Fossils are also found in it. The formation is found where streams cut through the formation to expose it.

A number of old iron mines were located around Laurel, one in the Greenbelt area. Farmers could have carried on small scale mining operations on their own property.

According to The Report on the Iron Ores of Maryland, put out by the Maryland Geological and Economic Survey in 1911, the Hedgman Ore Banks, owned by J.N.S. Hedgman, were located 2¼ miles east of Branchville. They consisted of two openings measuring 70 feet x 30 feet and 50 feet x 30 feet. Comparing the 1911 map with modern road and topographical maps, this reporter was unable to pinpoint the exact location of the ore banks, for roads and stream flow have changed in the last 70 years. This reporter estimates that the mine could be anywhere in the area from the intersection of Southway and Greenbelt Road all the way to parcel 2.

During the Greenbelt Years

Parcels 1, 2 and the surplus school board land were only a small part of the green space that surrounded the original town of Greenbelt. This land was probably used for the same type of recreational uses as it is today. Garden areas and several town dumps were also located on this land.

In 1939 gardens existed near the present-day Northway Fields. And in 1940 there were gardens on the present-day GHI properties and on parcel 2. Today there are still gardens on parcel 2 next to Hamilton Place.

Two town dumps were established in parcel 1 before 1952. What is now Northway Athletic Fields was a dump as recently as the early 1970's.

Parcels 1 and 2 have been owned by private developers since 1955. In 1966 the Board of Education purchased part of parcel 2 which became the present-day surplus school board land. No development has yet taken place on this land, though through the years plans have been made to do so.

(This reporter would welcome information anyone may have on the iron mine. Contact this reporter through the News Review.)

Surplus Food Distribution Set for Next Week

On Wednesday and Thursday, September 18 and 19, the city will again participate in the surplus food program sponsored by Prince Georges County. Cheese, butter, dry milk, cornmeal, flour, rice and honey will be distributed to eligible persons on these two days from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Council Room of the Municipal Building.

Eligability requirements are: (1) participation in a welfare program or Aid to Dependent Children, Food Stamp program, Medicaid, energy assistance, or (2) an income less than $7,470 for one person, $10,080 for two people, $12,690 for three people or $15,300 for four people.

Anyone interested in volunteeringfi to help with the distribution or needing additional information should call the City Offices at 474-8052.

GHI NOTES

The GHI Board of Directors will hold a special meeting on Thursday, September 12 at 8 p.m. in the Board Room. The meeting will focus on the larger townhomes rehab and will be followed by a work session on the occupancy criteria.

The next regular GHI Board meeting will be Thursday, September 19 at 8 p.m. in the Board Room.

Management has learned that many members have recently been solicited about buying mortgage life insurance. Members are advised to seriously consider the proposal before deciding to purchase the insurance. Many consumer organizations question the value of such products.

Fall Activities Set By Recreation Dept.

Labor Day, 1985 is now history. Events were held as scheduled under beautiful skies. Awards have been presented, clean up almost complete and the pool's system shut down and winterization started.

Preparations are now underway for all the Fall activities. The Maryland-National Capital Park and Planning Commission's Softball and Soccer will get their seatheir Fall schedule on Braden Field. Boys' and Girls' Club Football and Soccer wil get their season's competition underway this Saturday and Sunday. And the department's leagues in Co-ed Soccer and Women's Flag Football are now forming. Games will begin mid-September.

The department's Fall schedule has been in effect. However, hours have been extended this week for the school children who were dismissed early due to the heat wave. New projects under organization are — St. Jude's Ride-A-Bike, Adopt-A-Tree and the Annual Greenbelt Volunteer Appreciation Day. Applications for the full time professional position of Recreation Coordinator have been reviewed and interviews will follow.

TOM WHITE

INDEPENDENT, EXPERIENCED LEADERSHIP:

As with development issues which were discussed last week in this space, transportation related concerns will continue to require a great deal of attention in Greenbelt.

Of significant concern is the balance that is required to assure that Greenbelt is not overwhelmed by major transportation facilities to serve increasing development at the expense of our green space, our local access and our neighborhoods.

Elements of a balanced transportation plan should include:

- Improvements to Greenbelt Road from Mandan to Kenilworth Ave. — including a redesigned Parkway ramp at Greenway Center and pedestrian access on the Parkway Bridge.
- Preserve the Southway on and off ramps to the Parkway.
- Early completion of Metrorail Service to Greenbelt, with good access from the Beltway, Greenbelt Road and Cherrywood Lane.
- Completion of hiker/biker trails linking all sections of Greenbelt.
- Continued opposition to the proposed intercounty connector and a related extension of Kenilworth Ave. These facilities will only serve to dump truck and auto through traffic onto Greenbelt Roads.

I would appreciate your continued support to pursue these goals as a member of the Greenbelt Council.

Thomas X. White

Recreation Review

Volleyball - Competitive and Recreational

Co-recreational volleyball, both competitive and recreational, is played at Greenbelt Elementary School Gym. Competitive games are played on Mon. evenings. Both are from 8:30 10:30 p.m. A nominal fee will be charged. Everyone, 16 years of age and over, is welcome.

Co-Ed Adult Soccer

Games are played every Sat. between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. Action can be seen at either Greenbelt Middle School or Braden Field. Spectators may call the Rec. Dept., 474-6878, for further information on schedules.

Recreation Center's Fall Hours

The Greenbelt Youth Center and Springhill Lake Recreation Center have begun their Fall hours as follows: Monday-Friday 3-10 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m.-10 p.m.; Sunday, 1-10 p.m.

Last Disney Film Saturday at Utopia

The last in the Walt Disney feature film series at the Utopia Theater will be this Saturday's showing of "The World's Greatest Athlete," beginning at 10 a.m.

Konrad Herling, Greenbelt Arts Center president, is grateful for the community support that the two 5-week series received, and it is hoped that the Saturday morning films can be scheduled next summer. A strong showing at this final movie will help the Arts Center directors in determining future needs.

Women's Flag Football

Action in the Women's Flag Football can be seen every Sunday, 9 a.m.-12 noon on Braden Field. It is tough and exciting. Spectators are urged to come down and cheer their favorite team on to victory.

Homemakers' Club

The Greenbelt Homemakers' Club will resume regular monthly meetings with a potluck supper on September 18 at 7 p.m. at the home of Shirley Hibbs, 123 Lakeside. The club will also be meeting once a month for crafts. Homemaker programs, which are sponsored by the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension Service, are open to all. For further information call Shirley Hibbs, 345-9446.

At the Library

Wednesday, September 18 — Friends of the Library Meeting. 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Thursday, September 19 — Morning Book Discussion Group. 10:15 a.m. Harriet Doerr's "Stones For Ibarra."

Thursday, September 12 at 10:30-11 a.m. a Drop-In Storytime for ages 3-5. There will be a Drop-In Storytime every Thursday through September 26.

Council Develops Questions for County to Answer

pared to accept the Sunrise project and recommend that the city withdraw opposition to tax-exempt financing for the project if the county would satisfy four conditions:

1. "A firm schedule for public utilities construction should be drawn to include the completion of Hanover Parkway (with the modifications requested by Hunting Ridge), the widening of Greenbelt Road and the Baltimore-Washington Parkway overpass (with or without federal funds), and a firm commitment by the state for relocating the Parkway access ramps at Greenbelt Road. Such a schedule must show projected completion dates and ensure that none of the development plans already approved (Tidler, Smith-Ewing. Trade Center) will be obstructed."

2. "The county should commit at least $50,000 per year for a minimum of three years toward the development and maintenance of Schrom Park."

3. "The county should commit to the City of Greenbelt all surplused or to-be-surplused school property within the city limits."

4. "The county should pledge irrevocably that it will submit to the city for review any and all plans for further development in or near Greenbelts' boundaries."

McCaig's development project is ready to proceed. The only question remaining is whether he will be allowed to use tax-exempt bonds or will need private (more expensive) financing.

Coakley & Williams

Terry Coakley, representing Coakley and Williams, made a presentation early in the evening designed to point out that Coakley and Williams and the third tower of the Maryland Trade Center are not a part of the Sunrise Project and that things had been going smoothly before that project came on the scene. "Sunrise has come along and alienated everybody," he said. Coakley is ready to start both its third office building and to increase the size of its Holiday Inn.

Coakley and Williams, several years ago, signed a binding covenant with the city that further development on its Maryland Trade Center Park would not get ahead of highway improvements essential to carry the resultant traffic flow. If McCaig's Sunrise Village Apartment project goes through, his development will consume traffic flow capacity on which Coakley and Williams has been counting—capacity that the firm needs to meet its covenant with the city.

Later in the meeting, when it became apparent that the council would take no action on any of the development projects in East Greenbelt until it received the answers to its questions to the county. Coakley, obviously exasperated, asked why the city was holding Coakley and Williams hostage in this situation.

In response, Putens pointed out that the Sunrise project caused questions about traffic levels resulting from any and all development on the east side of the city and that projects could not be looked at one at a time. The potential traffic impact of Sunrise has not been included in any of the traffic studies done for any of the other Greenbelt East projects. "It's not your fault, it's not the city's fault," Weidenfeld told Coakley, "but now we must deal with the problem." He added that the county must have known about the city's covenants with Coakley and Williams and yet did not inform the city about the Sunrise project when it could have.

When Coakley pointedly asked why their project could not go ahead, councilmember Putens asked "Have you met the covenants in terms of the road improvements there?"

Coakley requested that a copy of the covenants be produced. It was determined that it states that a schedule must be developed so that there exist at all times adequate public facilities to support the project. It further specifies that several projects in the Hanover Road area must be in place when Maryland Trade Center III is built.

When councilmembers expressed an unwillingness to release Coakley and Williams from the covenants without some assurances from the county that the facilities would be completed, Coakley requested a letter from the city specifying exactly what must occur for the project to go ahead.

The city council was schduled to consider the evening's issues during its regular meeting on September 9.

Our Neighbors

Martha Kaufman 474-9359

Condolences to the family of Harry Greenbaum of Ridge Road who passed away on September 9. The Greenbaums are long-time residents of our town, and we'll miss seeing Harry walking to the Center to get his newspaper every day.

Our sympathy also to Elihu Boldt on the recent death of his mother, Yetta Boldt.

Ann and Tony Pisano of Greenhill Road have arrived home safe and sound after 'bumming' across Europe. They visited fourteen countries during their trip which included a three-day ferry ride to Israel. The 3-month trip was beautiful, exciting and a great learning experience.

Rosalie Jones of Parkway went for a Hot-Air Balloon Ride on Labor Day, in Urbana, Md. Her daughter and grandchildren followed along the country roads as she floated through the air. It was something Rosalie had always wanted to do. Cute, eh!

A blessed event occurred at Vince and Jean Martone's of Research Road. Baby Marilyn Ann weighed 5 lbs. 15 oz. arriving on August 27 at Holy Cross Hospital. Marilyn's grandparents, John and Pat Martone, have lived here for many years and uncles Joe and Pete Martone currently live in Greenbelt.

Congratulations to Cindy and Joseph Comproni Jr. on the birth of daughter Ashley Elaine who weighed 7 lbs. 3½ oz. at Holy Cross Hospital on August 20. Big brother, Joseph David, age 2½ welcomed his new little sister.

Al Herling underwent major surgery last week at PGGH and was transferred out of intensive care on Sunday to his own room. Al, your many friends wish you a rapid and complete recovery.

We are sorry to hear that Pat Griffin, popular barber, has been ill. He hopes to come home from the hospital this week end. We wish him a speedy recovery.

AF Staff Sgt. Gregory R. Dahms, son of Donald F. Dahms of Ridge Road has arrived for duty at Tinker AFB, Oklahoma. Dahms is a training manager with the 552nd Airborne Warning and Control Wing. Good luck, Gregory.

Celeste K. Osborne, Executive Assistant to President of Eastern Business Machines, Inc., Joseph F. McDermott Jr., recently earned the Certified Professional Secretary (CPS) designation. The CPS certification represents one of the highest honors available in the secretarial profession. EBM is located on Ivy Lane in Greenbelt.

Welcome home to Lekh and Suzanne Batra of Ridge Road. Recuperating after surgery, Lekh spent three weeks with Suzanne's parents in Saranac Lake, New York and he says he feels fine.

Navy Fireman Donnell S. Dory recently reported for duty with the battleship Precommissoning Unit Missouri, based at Long Beach, CA. Dory was a 1980 graduate of Eleanor Roosevelt High School. He joined the Navy in February 1984.

Lance Marable, Edmonston Rd., and his partner won first place in their section in the Golden Pairs, a one-day regional contract bridge championship in Las Vegas, Nev., that drew a field of 2,576 players.

Air Force Captain Ellie N. Bishop, sister of John B. Bishop, Hanover Parkway, has arrived for duty at Lackland AFB, Texas. Bishop, a flight commander with the Officer Training School, was previously assigned in West Germany.

Kenmoor Middle School Talented and Gifted Center announced the appointment of Nancy Weyel, former Greenbelter, as library media specialist. Weyel holds a B.A. in English Education and an M.L.S. in Library Science from the University of Maryland. She attended North End Elementary and Greenbelt Junior High Schools before graduating from High Point H.S. in Beltsville. She is currently second vice president of the Educational Media Association of Prince Georges Ceounty and chairman of the county's Write-A-Book Festival.

Joseph Rice, CHA, Director of Operations, Greenbelt Corporate Office, and James Hoyt, CHA, General Manager Holiday Inn Greenbelt, have completed the necessary requirements and have been awarded the Certified Hotel Administrator Designation (CHA), which is the highest credential offered by the hotel industry.

Class on Hor d'Oeuvres

A course on new and interesting ways to prepare and serve hot and cold hors d'oeuvres will be taught under the auspices of Prince Georges Community College on Wednesday, October 9, 7-9:30 p.m. at the Greenbriar Community Building. There is a small food fee plus tuition. For information call 441-1096.
